10th MIDWEST CONFERENCE ON INTERPERSONAL VIOLENCE & ABUSE

presented by

CORNERSTONE
REBUILDING LIVES, RESTORING HOPE

November 8 & 9, 2018

Two days of learning related to domestic violence, sexual violence and human trafficking

ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

Interpersonal violence is a public safety issue and a public health issue; its effects on adults and children are not contained within the walls of agencies like Cornerstone.

The effects of domestic violence, sexual violence and human trafficking can be seen in doctors' offices, hospitals, schools and in the criminal justice system. Intimate partner rape, physical assault and stalking alone costs more than $4 billion per year for medical and healthcare services in the U.S.

Now in its 10th year, the Midwest Conference on Interpersonal Violence and Abuse offers a broad spectrum of workshops by nationally and locally-renowned speakers who are experts on issues related to domestic violence, sexual violence and human trafficking.

This conference is designed for healthcare professionals, social service providers, educators, justice system professionals, law enforcement and concerned community members. It is especially helpful for those with limited training in the field.

CHILDREN, YOUTH & FAMILIES: An innovative program encompassing early childhood education, affordable mental health therapy for adults and children, support groups, parenting, after-school programming, services for sexually-exploited youth and school-based violence prevention that teaches children and youth the skills they need to negotiate and mitigate the violence in their lives.

VICTIM ADVOCACY PROGRAM: Staff provide advocacy and support in criminal, civil and family court. A partnership with local law enforcement agencies, prosecutors and the courts improves the justice process and protects victims.
